Whittier, California – March 2016 – The Whole Child (TWC) celebrated the Everychild Foundation Luncheon and Grant Presentation on Tuesday, March 15, 2016, from 11:30 am to 1:30 pm at the Skirball Cultural Center (2701 N. Sepulveda Blvd, Los Angeles, CA). In October of 2015, The Whole Child was awarded a $1 million grant from the Everychild Foundation to fund the Everychild Foundation Family Housing Program. The 2-year grant will go toward helping hard- to-place families with children, who are homeless or at risk of homelessness with adequate, safe and affordable housing.

Launching March 1, 2016, the Everychild Family Housing Program anticipates serving 672 children ages zero to 18 (approximately 168 families) over a two-year period. The program is aimed at achieving stability and emotional well-being for these children and their families.

“We are grateful for our partnership with the Everychild Foundation as together we’re helping vulnerable children to thrive and succeed by meeting one of their most fundamental needs, housing,” says Charlene Dimas-Peinado, Chief Executive Officer. “Affordable and safe housing will facilitate positive long-term outcomes for homeless children, while providing resources and support to their parents.”

Through its new Family Housing Program, TWC will assist families in securing housing and provide help with move-in expenses. At the same time, TWC case managers will assess each family's situation and develop an individualized service plan designed to achieve long-term stability.

“The Everychild Foundation has a deep and growing concern about the emotional impact on children living in traumatic environments,” says Jacqueline Caster, Founder and President of the Everychild Foundation. “The Whole Child’s mission, to give children of all ages the skills, support and security they need to build emotionally healthy lives fits with our mission to assist underserved Los Angeles children - our most vulnerable citizens.”

The program will target hard-to-place families – often headed by young, single females with several children – who are at the greatest risk of homelessness. Focus will be on the children in these families who can suffer from lifelong mental and physical health issues, exposure to violence and an increased probability of being placed in foster care.

The Family Housing program is based on the nationally acknowledged Housing First model. The model focuses on securing permanent housing, coupled with intensive support services, rather than placement in a short-term shelter. Homelessness in the TWC service area of Whittier and its surrounding communities has increased 47% as indicated in the recent 2015 Homeless Count conducted by Los Angeles Housing Services Authority. This homeless situation is exacerbated by a shortage of affordable housing and increasing poverty rates.

Founded in 1957, TWC is one of LA County’s premium nonprofit agencies, fostering the healthy development and emotional well-being of underserved children. The mission of the organization is to give children of all ages the skills, support and security they need to build emotionally healthy lives and become caring, responsible adults.
